

Christmas Hampers

CORPORATEGIFTS@DONTBUYHERFLOWERS.COM

Enjoy your Christmas

Experience has told us that not everyone relishes being the organiser of Christmas gifts at work; catering to everyone's different needs, wanting to get it 'right' and within budget – and as luck would have it, this is what drives us.

We set out to be the most thoughtful gift company, and that extends to how we want our clients to feel, as well as your recipients.

As well as food and drink hampers, we can create gift boxes with products to promote relaxation over the Christmas period. Get in touch to tell us what you're looking for and we'll take care of the rest so you can focus on other things and then crack open the mince pies or bottle of sparkly and enjoy your Christmas.

A THOUGHTFUL GIFT

When putting together food & drink hampers, our mission was to ensure that every product was the best quality and delicious. We don't want to include a 'fillers' and leave you with products that sit at the back of the cupboard until next Christmas.

We've scoured the UK for brilliant British brands, the DBHF team have tried and tested many delectable products (it's a tough job, but someone had to do it) and come up with the following selections.

As always, we want to meet our clients exact needs so each package can be tailored to suit all preferences, removing or adding products, sourcing items to your specific brief and getting it just right.

Swap products around ✨

We can make every hamper in your order the same, or we can group by different budgets, dietary preferences, with or without alcohol.

Perhaps Pete from Accounts prefers dark chocolate while Sarah in Client Services is dairy-free? You're proud of your heritage and want to include products from a particular area? There's a book that sums up your Organisation's values that you want to include?

No problem.

The crucial bit for us is to deliver what you want.

Thoughtful Gifts ✨

If you want to send gift boxes with additional products to food and drink, our speciality at Don't Buy Her Flowers is TLC – gift boxes that are all about encouraging the recipient to take a bit of time for themselves. And let's face it, that's always welcome at the end of the year!

Cashmere socks, books and tasty snacks to unwind with, candles and bubble bath to lock themselves away for a pamper session. We create bespoke gift boxes based on who you're sending gifts to and, importantly, how you want them to feel. The team have also created set packages.
